In today's episode, I talk to self-improvement entrepreneur Dan Koe. Dan runs the Modern Mastery HQ business community that helps creators and influencers monetize their following by harnessing digital economics.

This year, he's projected to make $2.5 million dollars! And he runs his business almost entirely by himself—with just a little help from his video editor roommate and one other contractor. Check out Dan Koe's business community and digital products at:

If you've ever wanted to learn about monetizing a personal brand and running a business by yourself, you'll love this episode.
